

Julie Brown-Georgi
Director of Interoperability – Policy and Standards, Health Solutions
American Medical Association

I am Julie Brown-Georgi, MS, CAHIMS and I am a healthcare interoperability and policy leader with 15+ years of experience advancing administrative simplification, electronic standards, and multi-stakeholder consensus. I currently serve as Director of Interoperability – Policy and Standards at the American Medical Association and I hold leadership roles across the standards ecosystem, including Chair of the National Uniform Claim Committee (NUCC), and a Board Member of WEDI.

My executive leadership includes serving as a CEO and Chief Strategy Officer, managing complex, regulated healthcare initiatives, leading cross-functional teams, and partnering with government and industry to deliver measurable outcomes. I bring a governance mindset grounded in integrity, independent judgment, and organizational stewardship.

If elected, I would focus on advancing X12's mission by strengthening adoption and implementation of interoperable EDI standards, elevating provider and patient-centered outcomes, and ensuring X12 remains responsive to evolving regulatory and market needs while preserving its consensus-based principles.

Please consider this my candidate statement.

Warmly,
Julie
